Dear Parents and Students,

I hope everyone is staying in and staying healthy. I am sure most parents are busy trying to keep their child occupied and students are always thinking of ways to keep themselves entertained. It is not an easy task for all of you! While it is always enjoyable to play games and have fun, we also want to do things that make good use of our time.

What better way than to read! (A small laugh) Most of us are aware of the benefits of reading, so I will not talk much about it today. Some children are natural readers. They can instinctively pick up a book themselves and sit, without making a noise, for hours getting lost in their book. However, there are some children who need more guidance or get more pleasure with someone reading to them.

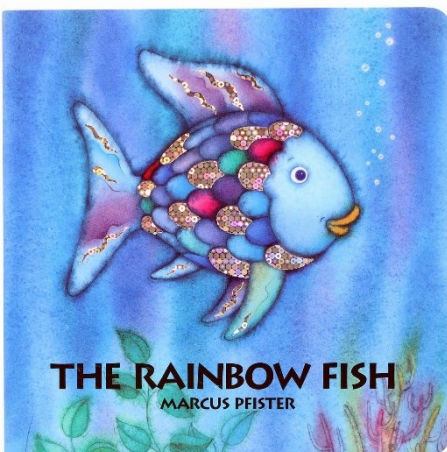

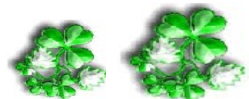

Reading aloud to children has been shown to improve reading, writing and communication skills, logical thinking and concentration, and general academic aptitude, as well as inspire a lifelong love of reading. So, rather than recommending a book to you in this newsletter I am going to recommend a website called 'Storyline Online'. The children's English storybooks on this website are told by a reader with subtitles and illustrations.

Hopefully, this website will make reading more pleasurable for students and help parents to free up some time to think of more exciting and fun things to do with their child!

I hope you all enjoy this website!

Website Recommendation

The SAG-AFTRA Foundation's Daytime Emmy®-nominated and award-winning children's literacy website, Storyline Online®, streams videos featuring famous actors reading children's books alongside creatively produced illustrations. Readers include Oprah Winfrey, Kristen Bell, Jaime Camil, Kevin Costner and dozens more. Each book aims to strengthen comprehension and verbal and written skills for English-language learners.

There are many classic stories such as 'The Elves And The Shoemaker' and 'The Tale of Peter Rabbit'. Yet, there are some very inspiring books like the award-winning 'The Rainbow Fish' which is best known for its moral lesson about the value of being individual. In this book, a beautiful fish finds friendship and happiness when he learns to share.
